

The Pancake House continues to evolve into a one-stop dining and specialty shopping experience.

There is no need to worry – The Pancake House continues the long-standing traditions of offering huge portions of an ever-expanding menu and the same exceptional customer service that brings people back year after year and pleasantly surprises newcomers.

We enjoy the distinction of being McCall's oldest restaurant with the same name and for also being one of McCall's premiere dining establishments.

What started as the Pinecrest in 1949, offering drive-up service, evolved into the Pancake House, featuring homemade jams and jellies, and blossomed into a full breakfast and lunch menu with homemade breads and mammoth-sized cinnamon rolls. The entire operation has been overseen by the same owners, The Bertram's for the last 37 years!

Like most of us, The Pancake House was born from humble beginnings. After outgrowing an extensively remodeled old house, a new custom 11,000 sq. ft. building was constructed by George Bertram and good friends and local craftsmen Bill Rice, Scott Keithley and John Clark. The doors opened on April 1, 2002 - a mere 8 months to the day from breaking ground.

The beautiful lodge-like facility can accommodate large groups or an intimate meal can be enjoyed in one of many private booths. Visitors can't say enough about the ambiance that results from prominently displayed food-related antiques that have been acquired over a 40-year period or the extensive flower display in the summer and light display in the winter.

Recently the front of the building has undergone another transformation when owner, Bonnie

Bertram decided she wanted to open a new ANTIQU SHOP. Many of the antiques currently being offered hail from the Bertram family's extensive private collection.

Take a stroll through the new shop and let the Hostess know if you would like to make a purchase.

It is our pleasure to continue serving you since 1983!!
